Michael graduated from Durham University in 2004 and then went on to complete his LPC Course at BBP Law School in Leeds, being awarded Distinction. He gained over ten years' experience at international law firms before joining Lupton Fawcett LLP in 2017 as Partner and Head of Banking and Finance.

At Lupton Fawcett LLP, Michael acts for many different types of clients in a variety of sectors, including clearing banks, other lenders (such as real estate funds), borrowers of all types (from multi-national PLCs to SMEs and OMBs), private equity houses and other financial institutions. He specialises in general corporate finance, acquisition finance and real estate finance (both investment and development), and has further experience in both leveraged finance and project finance.

Personal Information

Michael has a young family, so they take up most of his time outside of work! Other than that, his main hobbies are supporting Bradford City A.F.C and the Green Bay Packers, and following various other sports. Michael also likes to try to find time to get some exercise when he can!
